

Genesis acquires three narrowbody aircraft from BOC Aviation

Global full-lifecycle aircraft lessor welcomes two new customers and new technology aircraft into its fleet

6th November 2024: Genesis, the Dublin based full lifecycle commercial aircraft lessor, announced today that it has concluded a transaction with trading partner BOC Aviation (BOC Aviation) for the acquisition of three of the most liquid narrowbody aircraft; one Boeing 737-8 with TUI, one Airbus A320-200 with Volaris, and one A320 NEO with existing Genesis customer TAP.

Genesis Chief Commercial Officer Peter O'Byrne stated, "Genesis is once again delighted to transact with our trading partner BOC Aviation, and we thank them for their support. We welcome TUI and Volaris as Genesis' newest customers, whilst extending our excellent partnership with the team at TAP."

BOCA's Remi Le Meur, Head of Aircraft Sales commented, "We are pleased to finalise this multiple asset deal with Genesis. It has proven itself once again to be an excellent trading and transactional partner."

ENDS

Notes to editor:

Press release issued on behalf of Genesis.

About Genesis

Genesis was established in 2014 by global financial service firm Barings. It is a full-service narrowbody aircraft lessor based in Dublin with a portfolio of 56 owned, managed and committed Airbus and Boeing aircraft. The component trading arm of Genesis is ReGen, a company founded in early 2023 to extend Genesis' service capabilities in the aftermarket parts space.

www.genesis.aero

About BOC Aviation

BOC Aviation is a leading global aircraft operating leasing company with a fleet of 693 aircraft owned, managed and on order. Its owned and managed fleet was leased to 93 airlines in 48 countries and regions worldwide as at 30 September 2024. BOC Aviation is listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange (HKEx code: 2588) and has its headquarters in Singapore with offices in Dublin, London, New York and Tianjin. For more information, visit www.bocaviation.com.